Captain Cowpon seems to labor under the delusion that he is a rival of Captain Ears's; and he has imposed his notions upon some of our esteemed contemporaries of the western press. One of these declares that there is not an item of intelligence from the Lower Mississippi that should not be an instruction to Congress to try the outlet system. What is the outlet system? It purports viding outlets for the surplus water. The mere statement of the object of the plan tells us at once that there is but little fall in the river between the Gulf of Mexico and the points in the river where these outlets would begin their course; that consequent to those outlets; that, consequently again, there cannot be much surplus water carried off in the manner proposed; and that all the land, through, which it is proposed. perty from the Mississippi river by pro-

In the course of time the result would be a channel so shallowed and diminished as to call for more levees. More levees would result, again, in elevating the bottom of the river. And so on. The final result would be a land of bayous and mud. Louisiana would revert to her condition hundreds of years ago.

The jettics cannot produce any worse results than these. Captain Eads says that he can manage the Mississippi all the way from Cairo to the Gulf if Congress will give him the money. We hope that the next Congress will take a liberal and enlarged view of this subject, and appropriate to the work so imperatively demanded by the interests of the whole country a sufficient amount of money to enable Captain Eads to prove in a few years that he is not a mere theorist. We would vote fifty millions of dollars, if that amount were necessary to so important an object.

Granite. We have heard it said that in Brazil they sometimes make the axles of carts out of mahogany. To the people of this country such a use of that wood would seem to be inexcusable extravagance. But is it? What value do we in Virginia set upon granite? Just about what the labor used in getting it out gives to it. And the fact is that there is so much granite in this State, and there is so much grande in the city is found in so many localities, that there of the Finance Committee (place) it is found in so many localities, that there of the Finance Committee (place) is given by any possibility any exhibition of the city's liabilities as assets.

Our attention was called to this subject by a communication in the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette. The recent floods, it is said, "have very properly and naturally" resulted in much discussion as to improving the streets of Cincinnati, and incidentally as to the best material for paving, &c. From this communication it appears that attempts have been made to introduce Virginia and New England granduction of such material. Consequently, river-boulders and limestone have been chiefly used. But the communication ty of our Ohio fellow-citizens in materials suitable for pavements of the best class, and for houses, walls, &c. Indeed every Richmond man who has ever travelled in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Missouri must have noticed that in building piers, &c., rock, or more properly stones, are used which would not in Virginia be considered fit for such purposes. The correspondent alluded to recommends the use of the granites, hornblendes, &c., which are found in the shape of "bowlders" on the watershed of Ohlo, from Newark on the east to the Indiana line, and for miles in latitudinal width, and adds:

Many of these rocks are very hard-too bard, perhaps, to be profitably worked into cubical paving-stones—but others are of proper consistency, and could be sawed into any desired shapes. They lie in myriads, exposed to sight, and being already 'quarried,' only need removal to saws or crushers, and thence to the streets of the city. I have consulted with enand all have agreed that these glacual re-mains could be conveniently utilized in the making of excellent, lasting pavements,"

To the Editor of the Dispatch :

Were it made your duty to write an essay on "Relation of Pulpits to Trade and Polities," what would you understand as the exact meaning of your subject, taking the words "Trade" and "Polities" in their usually-accepted sense ? I submit the question to you as an expert in construing the English linguage. GORDONSVILLE, VA.

A very good question for a Sunday's issue; and we are obliged to "J. L. C." for his compliment; but we are not sure that he his not overtasked us. Let us follow CHARLES READE'S familiar rule, "Put yourself in his place"-meaning here, to put ourselves in the place of the men who stated the proposition which is to be discussed. What-did they understand by the phrase "The Relation of the Pulpit to Trade and Politics"? What relation is there or can there be? None. What, then does the phrase mean? Evidently the word "Relation" is used as dentity the word "Relation" is used as drawn, and other estimates submitted.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS-NEW TRIAL DENIED-BURNED TO DEATH-MISCELLANEOUS. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.

The City Council met in regular session last evening and transacted a good deal of important business. Among other things done, an investigation was ordered into the done, an investigation was ordered into the origin of the late disastrous fires, and into the mismanagement which occasioned such an immense loss. A special committee was also appointed to report at an adjourned meeting Wednesday afternoon the expediency of immediately organizing a paid fire department, and I think there can be no doubt about Lynchburg having such an no doubt about Lynchburg having such an institution shortly. The great destruction of property which resulted from the burnof three tobacco factories in fortyeight hours, beside other valuable houses, has created a feeling of great insecurity.

The Council last night passed a resolution exempting the Lynchburg Manufacturing (sumae) Company from taxation, and all other enterprises of a like character. THE LEGIFLATURE PRIGHTENED INTO THE TRANSACTION OF THE PUBLIC BUSINESS-PARKER (REPUBLICAN) SEATED-NO FREE PASSES FOR PUBLIC SERVANTS-THE WEST-ERN NORTH CAROLINA BAILROAD BILL.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., March 3, 1883. By dint of persuasion and obstinacy the emocrats induced the Republicans not to obstruct the public business and to permit the cumbrous Code to become the law of the land. This was done mainly through the fear of having to remain here after the the lear of maying to remain acceptance to 5th day of March at personal expense.

The Legislature was disposed to treat the matter of adjournment in a patronizing and cavalier way for a while, but when they discovered that the Governor had no idea of calling an extra session at public they discovered that the Governor had to idea of calling an extra session at public expense there was such a spur to doing well that the business has been pushed forward amazingly. Last night Colonel Sam. Tate, chairman of the Finance Committee, Democrats became all of a sudden such sin-gularly-pure politicians that they voted against their personal wishes to seat a claimant who, so the committee reported, had not produced any legal evidence of his right to sit in the House. They discarded all law and became a law unto themselves. Like the Jews, they are a peculiar people, Whether they will be the chosen people next election we shall see.

Mr. Dortch has created quite a flutter by Mr. Dorich has created quite a muter by introducing and passing a bill making it a misdemeanor in a railroad corporation to grant free passes to executive, legislative, and judicial officers of the State government, editors of the secular press, delegates to political conventions, &c., and a misdemeanor on the part of these proscribed persons to accept such pass. It also forbids any railroad to contribute to eampaign funds of any political party Exactly what right the Legislature has to forbid editors and citizen delegates from accepting free passes does not appear, and it is equally transparent that members of the Legislature are not legislative officers. This may be a very grim piece of humor on the part of Senator Dortch, who is a very wise and solemn-looking senator, to ow the people what an absurd maria for regulating everybody and everything can hatch out when it has sufficiently incubated.

A clever railroad friend suggests that free passes have become such a drain on the resources of the companies, and has in-creased travel in such disproportion to re-ceipts, that this bill is in the interest of the roads, and ought to be entitled "A Bill to Raise Revenue and for the Relief of Oppressed Corporations." It is noticeable that no senator was bold enough to deprive the peripatetic colored preacher of his pass.

The Western North Carolina railroad

The Western North Carolina railroad bill was the special order yesterday in the Senate. It is the bill which the House passed last week. There are two reports on it. The majority report is virtually hostile, as it tries to smother it with useless amendments. The minority report, it is claimed, really represents the sentiment of a majority of the committee and the Senate. The bill with a few amendments of no great importance will become law. The main fight will be to choke o amendments, so that it will not have to go back to the House.

THE WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA RAILROAD BILL PASSED.
